CAMPBELL VS. HAWKINS.

The Navasota Examiner-Review asks of The Eagle: "Don't you agree with us that the treatment accorded Mr. Hawkins by both the governor and the senate was despicable in the extreme? We cannot believe the 'square deal' folks of Texas will permit a faithful public servant to suffer in consequence of such high-handed proceedings."

The Eagle has no partiality for Governor Campbell and no prejudice against Mr. Hawkins, but it does not know all the facts. There were some good men in the senate who voted against the confirmation of Mr. Hawkins and, as at present advised, we cannot denounce them for so doing. If Mr. Hawkins had resigned when the issue was made he would have deserved, and would have received, more sympathy. It was a courtesy due, not to Thomas M. Campbell, but to the governor of Texas.

The Huntsville Post-Item says: "Surely all the family did not vote for Jones, else his vote would have been larger." The Georgia Smiths didn't all vote for Hoke, nor the Browns for "Little Joe." All of which goes to show that Shakespeare was right in saying there's nothing in a name.

Mr. R. L. Whitem told the cotton growers at the Farmers' Congress that he had made as high as four bales to the acre on his Brazos bottom plantation in Waller county. He fertilizes liberally, plows deep until July 4 and "lays by" then. His fertilizer costs a small part of the value of the extra crop.

If Alice Roosevelt Longworth does smoke cigarettes, as is alleged, it is to be regretted. But American boys and girls who are led into a bad habit simply by hearing that a woman whose sole claim to distinction is that she is the daughter of her father practices the habit, are hardly worth saving.

The victory of the independents over the Patterson faction in Tennessee is hailed everywhere as a hopeful sign of the times. When the Democratic party organization is prostituted to base purposes it ought to be beaten, and will be in every case, sooner or later.

Owing to a funny typographical error, the Gainesville Register printed the name of its town "Galuesville." This reminds us of a campaign song of the Whigs in 1844, which began: "James K. Polk and George M. Dallas—copperas britches and one old gal-lus."

The Lufkin News sees trouble ahead for the man who asked a Kansas court to decide whether his wife has the legal right to hire her own mother for cook against his protest, no matter how the decision goes.

A prominent Beaumont farmer says he would like to see the Democratic donkey harnessed to a plow. Pretty good suggestion. If the Republican elephant were hitched to a road building machine it would also help some.

A story is going the rounds of the newspapers that the famous leaning tower at Pisa, Italy, is about to fall. We remember reading this story, first about fifty years ago and at intervals several times since.

Can anyone who reads this mention an instance in which he, his family or any of his friends received any benefit from the state rangers? Discard sentiment and take a practical view of the matter.

A more abundant water supply and a sewerage system are the most important unfinished business before the Commercial Club. The alternative is constant danger of disastrous fires and pestilence.

In his expense account filed Monday, J. W. Jerico, candidate for constable in the Millican precinct, includes "a small load of melons and a bucket of peaches." This item will be a god-send to the paragraphers.

A flyabout is a little aeroplane for individual use. A runabout is a small automobile for individual use. A gad-about is a person of small capacity, of no use to anybody and a general nuisance.

The winter course for actual farmers at A. and M. will begin immediately after the Christmas holidays. Every farmer in Brazos county who possibly can should attend.

Mr. H. E. Singleton recommends diversified farming with hogs as the money crop. Such a combination commands itself to the progressive farmers of Brazos county.

The investigation of the Oklahoma Indian land frauds is developing the biggest national scandal since the star route frauds, and credit mobliier frauds during Grant's administration.

If American husbands keep on taking their wives to Europe and killing them trans-Atlantic bridal tours will cease to be fashionable.

Of course Mr. Bryan has no more chance to be elected president than a rabbit, but Mr. Bryan will go down in history as a great and good man.

Next Monday the Commercial Club will meet in Carnegie Hall, three hundred strong, provided there are no absentees.

CANDIES

If you want to have something to do every day that is really delightful, get into the habit of boosting Bryan. You will find it a joy forever.

According to the expense accounts filed, a candidate for sheriff in Harris county spent more than any of the candidates for governor.

There is no earthly reason why there should be dissension among the Democrats of Texas, and if there is it is because of pure cussedness on the part of somebody.

The Republican congressional committee is doing active missionary work in the Southern states, in the hope of picking up a few congressmen.

To relieve the apprehensions of those who dread him, Mr. Bryan has to deny every now and then that he is coming to Texas to live.

The insurgent Republicans won out in Kansas, Iowa and Missouri. The sins of the political boss are finding him out.

It was a close shave, but Texas escaped H. Bascom Thomas. There is always something to be thankful for.

How can a boy in a sack race or a woman in a hobble skirt get there with both feet?

The Navasota Examiner-Review seems to have dropped politics and taken up religion.

If the quart law is enacted hip pockets will have to be revised and enlarged.

THE REVIVAL AT PARKER'S SCHOOL HOUSE.

A Great Outpouring of the Spirit and Many Happy Conversions.

The meeting which has been in progress at Parker's School House the past week has been well attended and much interest manifested.

Dr. M. E. Weaver, assisted by Rev. F. C. Nash of Calvert, conducted the revival. Dr. Weaver delivered one of the most brilliant and soul-touching series of sermons that has ever been delivered in this community. The effects have been deeply felt not only in this community but in adjoining neighborhoods. Much good has been done. There were about twenty-five conversions with fourteen additions to the church.

Among the visitors were Mrs. M. E. Weaver, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Bullock, Messrs. Geo. Higgs, Walter Edge, Taylor and Henry Con way of Bryan, Rev. G. A. Foster of Fort Worth, W. W. Wheat and family and Mrs. T. G. Page and family of Mart, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Foster, Mrs. J. J. Conway and Miss Hopkins of Steep Hollow, and others.

Wednesday morning a large crowd gathered and Dr. Weaver delivered a very powerful address on "Falling and Unfalling Fountains." After the morning services a splendid dinner was spread which had been prepared by the good people of the neighborhood, consisting of barbecued meats, baked turkey, fried chicken and numerous delicacies which appeal to the appetite.

At 3 p. m. an hour was very pleasantly and profitably spent in discussing important religious questions and issues, at the close of which the people expressed to Dr. Weaver their sincere thanks and appreciation of his valuable aid and hearty co-operation in the meeting. He shall long remain in the hearts of all as an able speaker and devout Christian worker.

Supper was served at six, after which Rev. Nash preached the closing sermon, "What Shall We Do With This Man Jesus?"

The solemn ordinance of Baptism took place at the Little Brazos river Thursday morning at 10 o'clock.

A MAMMOTH PUMPKIN.

If the world does not find out that Brazos county is on the map it will not be the fault of Secretary Hewitt of the Commercial club. He has had an exhibition Friday at the Eagle office the largest pumpkin ever grown in this country which is going to send to T. C. Kember, general immigration agent of all the Gould lines at St. Louis.

The pumpkin will be properly inscribed and then given a coat of varnish to preserve it. The Eagle cannot give the exact size of the pumpkin. It was not quite as large as a flour barrel, but was fully as big as a large, healthy and fully developed bear.
